I am needing to get a server up and running as my current host has stopped running servers, just wondering if people can post any details they have for renegade server hosts and say who they use for their hosting.

Think it would be useful to add a list of providers to renegadewiki as I couldn't find any related info there.

Please provide URL/Contact details where possible.

I know, he seems to be the only reliable host here who is actually available and contactable - the budget is tight though and when prices are in $ things seem to work out a little less.

That is exactly why I asked in the hopes that I can at least get a few more prices in from people, I dont think I can practically afford a dedicated box yeah, i have tried to lower the prices recently in spite of this... £0.75 per player for standard, £0.90 per player for next gen

basically the problem at the moment is the exchange rate from the £ to the $ is really high, thus prices for people in USA have been getting higher of course, i dont mind arrangeing deals with people... if u were to contact me on MSN, well work out what the price would b originally and i often wouldnt mind dropping some off of the price due to the current exchange rates
