Who is Adad of this community and what does/did he ever do?

I've noticed he walks in the shadows of the community, appears, then disappears! And never says much at all. And owns a little DM server. Is he crazy?

He's the one I believe who had all the FDS serials and... there was a whole debacle over it. Search back for his name on here and you will learn more.

He's the one that denied 100 $ from BHS as they wanted to buy the FDS serials and redistribute them to the community. A few months later Xwis came up and there was no more need for a unique serial.

GG.

I remembered them offering him $1000 but I could be wrong, Crimson had posted something asking that. I still would have taken that though.

No, it was definitely $100. And I won.

Right, that explains the confusion. 1000 serials for $100. I was going to add a thing to RenGuard.com to request the serials.

What's to know about him? He's a pretty cool guy that lives in Hong Kong and did some work on CloudyServ.
