quote: You're going to have to excuse me here...I've been with this board since the day it opened, getting on two years ago. Now, lots of modification ideas have been tossed around since then... But mainly in the general board which was the only board to exist at that time, until The Silo came into effect a few days later. As the game grew closer to release, the modification forum was prepped by Westwood. It was opened shortly after the game was released if I remember correctly. Now, ever since then, has any real modification been released? I'm not talking about some map with some modified units, I'm talking a total conversion or at least a good modification. The answer? None, none at all. "Tiberian Evolution" attempted to be a modification... Yet all it did was add some stupid units and structures that made no sense -- a modification without direction is a bad modification. I don't care how you'll attempt to defend the MIQ (Modification In Question) here, it never has and never will be anything more than some kid's playtoy he tossed out and supposedly made better. How many ideas have we gotten over the months this forum has been open? What, over two hundred, at least? How many modifications were cancelled because the designers had no initiative, or that they didn't want to actually do it? You get people saying "Well, I need this and that and whatever else," making it seem like anything you're telling them to do is easy, so they end up quitting in the long run and your modification-to-be dies off... Leaving you like PlanetShaun and Andre\AllGusto, empty handed and full of empty promises that just kills your reputation. So why are any of you here? Are you here to really modify the game and design stuff that will make Westwood turn its head towards you, or are you still going to stick with lame additions or other stupid things because you won't go above and beyond? What real modifications do we have, anyways? I keep hearing concepts and other things that we always hear, yet only the Renegade Alert and Reborn modification teams are actually doing anything with any real substance. Yes, obviously, I'm biased towards Renegade Alert - seeing as how I'm a team member, yet I'm also able to see things like this without having to think of the RA conversion. It's pathetic, we have all these good modding tools and no one but two teams are really using them to their fullest potential. The rest have either slacked off, not delivered, or promised about 15 separate maps or modifications and never updated anything about them again. So, ask yourself, why are you here - are you here to recruit for other games, recruit for some imaginary modification team, or are you here to modify the game in your image and how you think it should be, by really using the tools instead of *ing with some Westwood maps to put in Guard Towers? Come on, get with the program. Either start modifying the game, or get out of the modification forum. The last thing we need is more people calling for more modification teams which will never make a single modification in their entire existence. Ack posted this a little while ago, and there were way too many comments, so here's what I think: I agree with what you said, I think that this is a good thing for the guys that are REALLY SERIOUS about modding. But me, I'm only 13, and I'm just here for the *ing fun dude. I love making maps and stuff with RenX and I'm learning a ton, but, I think that the majority of us are here because we want to have fun modding and learn. Now, you guys like Ack, Dante, Andre..(The list goes on) are really serious, but if you're gonna flame all our work (us guys that aren't that great), and put us down, just don't even comment. We post our work so people can give us CONSTRUCTIVE, and I emphasize CONSTRUCTIVE criticism, so we can learn and make it better. But please, don't just say that looks like hell or that sucks. Help us out, we are the future mod community. We are here to have some fun. There's my two cents. [January 07, 2003, 17:27: Message edited by: maytridy]

So *ing what if Tib Ev had no sense of direction? It was meant to be a fun mod. So maybe Ike tried to put a storyline into it. It may have failed, but it evolved into a mod that "could be played for the hell of it." Come on, ACK. At least have som respect for those that at least tried.

Face it Renegade was a failure, Renegade was a disaster. There is no point whatsoever in making any mods or maps at all anymore due to the lack of players playing Renegade.

It may be weak, but once the RA mod and Evolution are complete, Renegade will bounce back stronger then before. At least I would like to think it will.
