Message from YSL: Check <http://www.renegadehelp.net/> for one of the biggest Renegade modding help sites around.

Thread continues as normal.

I don't know if there are more people out there with the same problem but i'm gonna explain the problem the best I can.

I like making my own maps in level edit using heightfield. I wanted to make a new map called C&C_Recon_Battle.mix . I wanted a map with players only able to buy recon bikes, but!!! When I wanted to add the recon bikes (and some orcas/apaches just for fun) this happened:

I read on the internet that you have to change the settings here:
Edit -> Level Settings or something like that. When I click Level Setting my Level Edit crashes!!!
How is this possible??????

If you have the same problem or if you have the answer please post here.

Edit by YSL: Stickying for future reference.

i had this problem:

for the level edit crashing at the Edit -> Level Settings, find where your level edit folder is(most commonly C:\Program Files\RenegadePublicTools\LevelEdit) right click on the leveledit exe, click properties, then go to the tab 'compatibility'. enable the option 'disable visual themes'.

for the orca/apache problem, start up level edit, go to the preset of the helicopter you want, mod it, click on the physical settings tab, and take off the _m off the end of the file name.

it should work then.

Copy scripts.dll and scripts2.dll from your Renegade or A Path Beyond directory. Paste them in your mod package in a new folder called 'scripts'. Restart level edit.

I would suggest Jonwil's version of LevelEdit, that way you dont have to do that.

Using dazzle how do I do that?

I know how to use dazzle but not how to change the color of it... its always white or red...
I want to make 2, 1green and 1blue...

Apparently they are Thiima ReGenesis bullets.

I just want to know how they changed the colors of the dazzle.... atleast I think they used dazzle.

Stickyng for future reference.

First, extract dazzle.ini from the always.dat and copy it to your gmax\gamepacks\Westwood\Renx\plugins directory. Start up Renx, and in the w3d export options, when you choose dazzle, a box should open up just under the geometry options, allowing you to specify the dazzle times.

As far as customizations go, you'll have to modify the game to get more than the standard dazzle types.

Edit: The renhelp FAQ page, just as a reference for this.

Graywolf, I split your responses back to the main forum under the stickied stuff to keep it in a separate topic.

Everyone else, please feel ask small questions in this thread that isn't covered in the Renhelp FAQ! We'll all try to keep it organized so that it remains useful.

I know there's been a bit of a problem when exporting with the new "max2w3d" exporter, and it's mainly scaling issues. Well, thanks to me, you can now fix this.

Here's how to get it sorted:

1. Open max the usual way you would.
2. Click the Customize button at the top.
3. Select the Units Setup option.
4. Click the System Units Setup button in the new dialog.
5. In the new dialog, change "Centimeters" to "Meters".
6. Hit Ok.
7. And again.
8. And you're done, you can now scale models and terrain accuratly.

I know this will make an easier job for all those modders out there making the already brilliant game alot better.

Hope this helps.

- 3) XCC Mixer 1.44 (or updated)
- 4) Scripts 2.9.2

The server stuff to host your maps, visit this link.

<http://www.game-maps.net/index.php?action=category&id=100>

- 1) Renegade Dedicated Server
- 2) server.dat patcher
- 3) Scripts 2.9.2

Download the scripts here <http://www.game-maps.net/index.php?action=file&id=603>

Learn how to use this stuff <http://www.renhelp.net/>

zunnie wrote on Wed, 17 January 2007 04:32 I would get SSAOW 1.51, instead of scripts 2.9.2 which does not support modding things serverside through objects.ddb etc. (292 will not load objects.aow in the data dir for example).

Download SSAOW 1.51 and use these dll's in your leveledit and on your server as well.

This catagory contains roughly everything you need to start mapping/modding for Renegade...

Subject: How to fix the 0 bug with packages
Posted by Jerad2142 on Fri, 10 Aug 2007 03:43:19 GMT

Okay, earlier today I was informed about something called the 0 bug, this is a bug that you play a mod and after you play it so long you become unable to damage any thing, about 1 year ago I found out what causes this, it is a mis match with the armor.ini files. Level editor gets armor.ini file from the always.dbs file, although this would work normally, level editor was made prior to Renegades patch, this patch creates a file called always2.dbs. In this file there is a newer version of armor.ini which contain several different damage warheads and armor types. When you export your mod package with this out of date armor.ini file contained in it you give it the zero bug. If the client shoots an object with the flame thrower it will be unable to find the warhead that is being called for in the armor file, after it is unable to do this, it disables your ability to damage anything. But if the host were to shoot something with the flame thrower, it will crash the game out to desktop, because Renegade will be unable to find the warhead, which it takes slightly more seriously on the hosts side. I suppose your credits go to zero because the game thinks you are cheating or something like that, if I recall correctly it will zero out your credits every time something is shot with a weapon that the warhead can not be found in level editor.

Luckily this is a problem with a very easy to fix solution, take any mix extracting tool, and extract all the .ini files in always2.dbs then place these .ini files in your level editor folder (you can also delete all the .ini files before exporting your mod but this prevents you from making any new warhead types).

So basically make sure that all your weapons warheads are actually listed and set up in the armor .ini and you will never see the 0 bug.

Note: Dazzle.ini was also changed so you should also place this in the ""mod package name*\\ALWAYS\\INI" folder along with the armor.ini

Oh fine I will make it even easier, the two files are now listed below:

I actually liked the old one, this new one has a broken image link on its front page, its what we like to call "PHAIL!"

Plus they failed to port over any of the newer tutorials, and I really don't feel like remaking the few I made. And beings that no one else has either, and keeping in mind that site has been around for a while, I doubt they well.
