the servers which do medals and reset every month don't use renstats afaik, but a different system entirely, which is usually not available to the public.

FTP = File Transfer(spelt that wrong) Protocol, Basicly It's a thing that hosts your website, and whats your forums URL?

That's bullshit. FTP does not host your website. It just allows you to move files to a remote host.

Your website host sets up the FTP, They give you a login URL and a login Name and password for a FTP program, You can use global Scape FTP, But Smart FTP is alright

After that, Read the Readme.txt RenStats comes with and make a new login for your FTP and make sure it only has access to a 1 folder, preferably a folder only for the ladder and walla, RenStats uploads a .html file!

As does BRenBot's ranks plugin... tbh I don't think many people still use RenStats, since all the bots have their own ranking systems available now... (at least CS and BR do, I assume NR has) yup, i integrated NR into renstat - however its turned out to be more troublesome than i expected, so im probably going to be coding my own ladder lol and for renstat...

just hit Install Renstat on NR, then hit Config - everything should be self explanatory, look in the bottom window for NR there should be the renstat documenttion there dont worry about setting output variables of NR etc, NR sets them automatically
