Thought I would pass this link onto the forum members.

Gibson Research Corporation

This site will allow you to probe you internet ports for security vunerabilities.

Scroll down to the section labeled - Hot Spots - and select the Shields UP! link.

This is a handy site to check if you internet connection and PC has ports open to the public internet.

If all is well then your ports should all report as 'Stealth'.

A handy tool, one that's been around for a while.
