My friend, gotadie, ones was playing on a Reneade server and he said that you can actually play online and chat with your teammates with a microphone. He didn't get the link and he forgot what server it was. Is there really such thing as an add-on for Renegade that allows you to talk to your teammates through a microphone?

Thanks in advance.

It's called "TeamSpeak" and you can get it at <http://www.goteamspeak.com>. Many servers also run a TeamSpeak server. The n00bstories server (mine) does automatic team channel enforcement (Nod players in one channel, GDI in another). I'm not aware of any other servers that have such a feature.

If you are plaining with a friend, you can also use Yahoo Messenger or AIM for that case. Althought not many people use teamspeak...

Ventrilo is also popular.

I prefer TeamSpeak over Ventrillo just because of it's interface.

Some servers that you may be interested in:

ts.n00bstories.com:8767

ts.st0rmgaming.com:8767

Other servers use IPs and you'll have to communicate with the server owner/hoster to get the IP and port.
