English is obviously not his first language, so give him a break and try to figure it out.

I don't know what to say, Thaag, sorry.

If you want to create a new account to play on XWIS, at the login screen type in the name of the account you want and then a password that is at least 8 characters. Click on Login and a new account is automatically created. Do not press new account as it doesn't work now.

Give him a break, don't be such an asshole.

As many people have said, just retype your acct name in the Login box and you should be fine.
