lovely. But one thing. The animations are taking much longer than the actual reload time, which can get sorta disorienting online. Can you speed it up a bit?

Yah but a happy median would be nice. Something between the two. Not so fast it looked like on crack, but within a second or so of the actual reload time. Also, the arm fabric looks a bit rough. Could it be smoothed?

The katana will be awesome for your map. But until then, can we have something more, gunlike for model replacements?

Btw, the arms and hands are looking more and more amazing. The fabric looks much better. Keep it up.

This is a total conversion mod for Renegade that turns it into Red Alert 2

That katana is a waste of polygons and should be at most 350 imo for something so small and unneeded in terms of its shape. Someone said it was around 1500, and that's a huge amount for that, as well its texture is kinda iffy. Can you upload the Gmax of it? I just think you could make it look 90% the same with 65% less polygons. Otherwise amazing hand work there, that can be a huge task for anyone that doesn't have time to burn.

BadDog gaming has only been around.... 2 months? How the hell do you work out that you've been playing there for 5 years?

PS. i know tony had another clan/community before that.

Omg.....I swear, why cant someone just model the gun? I know it takes hours to do and lots of work, but i mean why cant someone model it and photoshop the texture? I could make the texture because i know how to use photoshop, if someone would just make the model...especially the other sniper seen in other screenshots, it had a green scope like the one in renegade right now, but it was more high tech looking.
