I know this may be an awful pain having loads of versions of this map out there but there are some disadvantages in the map. Over the last day we have been testing this map on our private servers to see if it is suitable for use on our main servers. It is an excellent map and we all liked it, there was just one thing that wrecked the gameplay. The team who destroys the light tanks gain hundreds of points making the gameplay a bit biased. We never really used the tanks because they are not that good to kill infantry, infantry only is better. I'm not saying you should update it now, but in a future release I think you should give the tanks a miss. Great job on the map Overall. [January 25, 2003, 07:08: Message edited by: General Havoc]

Yeah it's kinda like the turret on beach. Who ever kills it wins. Also the light tanks have the same armour as usual but they take more damage from shots. The railgun does 200 instead of 80.

Just dont get in the tanks to let the enemy score points off you. Not hard to do that.

I understand what you mean but you can't control your team. This map is going to be played on a 20 player public server. Its like saying your going to get out of your tank to repair it and then telling the enemy not to steal it.Thanks anyway simple... all you have to do is make a plane then press "m" then goto settings tab and change the blend mode to add. then goto the texture tab then use a light texture like the gun boat. i dont know what its called tho. hope that helped.
