Does anyone know how to make the personalized entrance messages that display when people join a server? I searched the forums, but might have been searching for the wrong thing. Thanks for any help.

CloudyServ gives you an option to enable a welcomes message for everybody who joins the server. When you join only you get it in the way of a personal message. Every user gets the same message.

I hope this is what you wanted to know.

And does somebody know how to get te reserved-slots addon? I forgot that.

Well, no, not as a server, but as an individual joining a server. Like on FnFall's server, for instance, I have seen people join, and when some join it shows a welcome message from them in chat.

Generally, that message can be set with the !setjoin command, such as:

```
!setjoin Crimson is here!
```

Ah, thank you. I assume I type that in while in the server correct?
