When i go to multiplayer internet it says i need to register....well i already have an account but i got a new pc and had to reload the game, and since then i have forgotten my password!! so when i try to make another account i click on "NEW ACCOUNT" and it says the page was either valid or doesnt exist or something....well my Q is, "Is there somewhere else i can make an account to play online? Or is there something i can do to make that link work?"

THANKS!!!

Just login with the name and pass of your choice. It's auto created.

Were you around before WOI became Xwis? If so then check the email you may have/may not have gotten at that time. Mine still shows my passwords
