You typed your password in wrong. Make sure you typed it in correctly.

just log on with another (non taken) username/password combo and youre fine.
or ask XWIS (strike-team.net?!?) if they can recover it for you.

Before you see that screen, there's a dialog box called Message of The Day, or something similar, what does that say?

Have you tried pressing refresh?

well, when i was updating core patch 2, it told me that my .ddb file was corrupt, so i deleted it, that's probably the problem, how do i get a new .ddb file? do i have to reinstall?

He meant the MOTD of XWIS, not RenGuard. Anyway, chances are you, too, are putting your password in wrong, or someone already has that name and you'll have to pick another one.

Are you sure you updated with patch 1.037 before installing renguard?

yes i have tried refreshing it and there is no message of the day on renegade. all it says is what you see on the screen shot. if you cant see the screenshot refresh or wait for it to load.

I meant this, just after you click on the "Login" button (If you have multiple accounts, or elected to not automatically use one account) or if you just use one account, chances are you should get it after clicking on "Advanced Games Listings"
