Go their bottom entrance, duck behind their walls, wait for the ob to power down, then book it behind the HON.

Then, wait at the corner of the HON towards the Air, run into the air.

The Ref, is ALITTLE harder to get to.

The ref is easy once you get to power plant, just walk to the very edge of the map, stay against the edge and you can make it clear to the ref.

It is still a little harder on a larger server. Although in all honesty most players do not think of looking at the back of the base to see if anyone is there. They all concentrate on the entrances.

Why the hell did you add a ? What you said is truth, Nothing to be sarcastic about.

You can get to the power plant, It's a little hard tho.

Actually this isnt obby walk, all servers I do it on get mad, but they dont ban me, they count obby walk as jumping back or.....the other way which i wont say, all i can say is...have lots of ammo to do this and for some reason obby charges severel times even if you are in it's veiw which then causes it to not even fire at you.....it isnt right, but hotty walking to the power plant or hon on under is ok, it's much different than obby walk, obby walk is being 100% visible but not being shot, while hotty walk is getting a character from one spot to another before obby charges and shoots.

Do not turn, always use back left and right only, until you are in the door.

get used to where exactly where you are so you do not overshoot your mark.
