This is my latest mod. Nothing like Virtual Legos though (except for the mutants.).

Free For All Mutant Bot Deathmatch is another .pkg mod with a lot of new stuff.

There are two modes in this. Spectate, and battle. You'll spawn in a room with peds on both sides of the room. One will have the sign saying "Spectate" on it, and the other will have a exit sign over it. If you step on one, you will be converted into that mode.

The spectate is special. If you go into spectate mode, you will teleport over the battle field with no model, and the bots won't attack you. You can fly around, go through walls, and view the field as you please.

The battle mode is when your team is changed to your very own personal team, and you convert into a special mutant with a special gun at random. You teleport in a random place on the battle field, and it's every man for himself!

Here's a example of what the game will be like (through spectate mode)

(note that you have to right click, save target as, and open the program you saved it as for it to work)

The mod is not completed yet, and I will post when it is done.

Was I not clear enough? :/ Right click the link, click the save target as, save it as "Video" or something on your desktop, open it, the video should work.

1. I don't have FlashPlayer installed to a point where it will open SWF files from the file manager anyway.
 2. It seemed to download awfully fast, you sure there's an entire video in there?

It works well for me. The quality sucks though, I couldn't find any good screen recorders for ren...

The sound is also pretty much off... by a lot.

Fraps.

You'll need to compress the original .avi to reduce a few hundred MB's (If not, GB's) Use something simple like Windows Movie Maker, Or go advanced and use Vegas Video.

I used fraps... :/ Then I put it into flash because nothing would host it for me, but nothing would host flash either... :/

Can't see anything on their vids. Somehow I can't get a video to have decent "seeable" quality on their website.

Yeah, Because you have to set it's play-back rate to something high, Last I remember Windows Movie maker does 1.5mbps Playback. That's more than enough.

Gamecam works decently without the huge file size that fraps gives you.

This just the flv loader file, you have to include the .flv to let us see it. (thats why it works for you but not us)

I want to see it.

EDIT: I was in a similar position before, I like to send streaming videos simply to save on initial file transfer time.

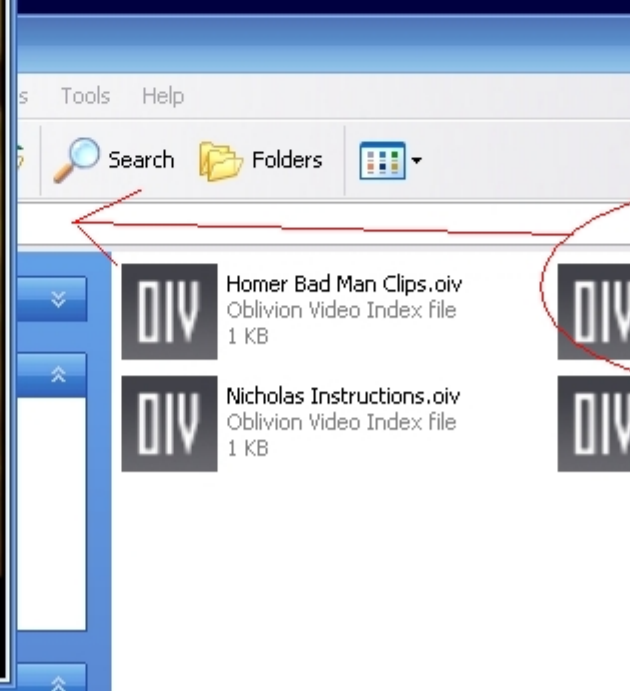

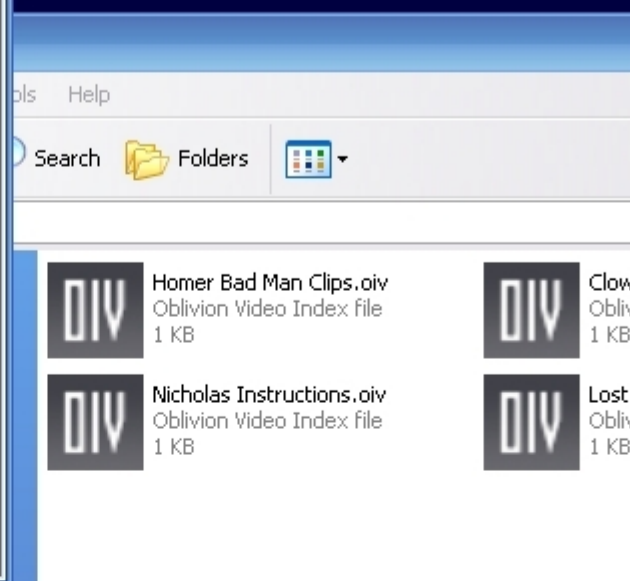

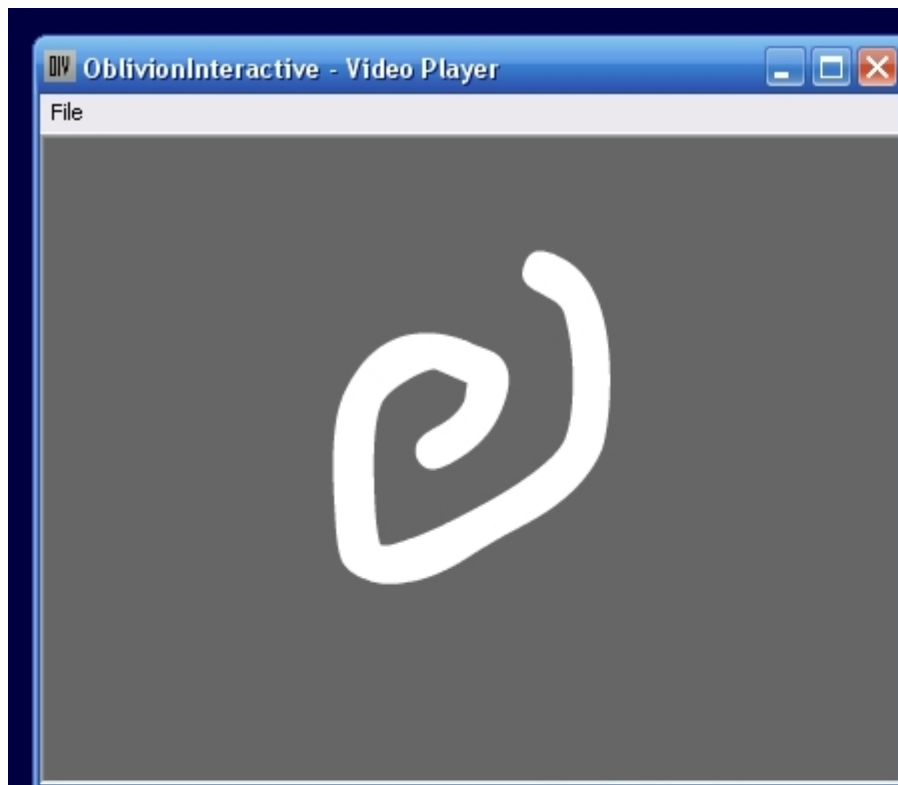

I made myself a player to handle my flash files:

Just double click the 1kb file and it will open the player, resize the window to the custom flash video size and stream it directly off of my server.

Saved hours and hours of sending video segments to multiple people.
