Ok...I had Gmax and RenX fuly innstalled on my other computer, but now i got a new one. So, i downloaded and installed Gmax on this new computer, and registered to get that code. Problem is, i dont.The registration completes sucesfully and it says "thank you for your registration, bla, bla, bla..." and that my e-mail is "being validated".Now, i know this "might take up to two minutes", but i have registered several times, and never got the code. I am 100\% sure that the e-mail adress is correct, and yet i havent got any mail.So, i wonder: Is there any way i can extract the registration code from the computer where i have Gmax innstalled and use it on this (the new), since dont get it when i register. Or could someone e-mail me a valid registration code? (it doesnt matter if two people is using the same code, does it?)Another thing: When i first innstalled Gmax, it was version 1.1, and i cant remember having to enter any code, just to visit a site. So, since i innstalled version 1.1, might there not exist a code at all for that version (i innstalled version 1.2 over 1.1 later, but didnt have to ennter any code as far as i can remember)?Sorry for the long post, and thanks in advance for any answers/help
