My friend told me that it was down for a while.

I guess, most of us experienced that moment

I guess this is what we call, "Locked target"

Well, I hope it starts working soon.

It's XWIS, not Westwood Online.

Don't want to create a new topic though, still it is related to server I guess

How come I can't register an account?

I have only about 5 accounts and I want to create another one.

It says: You are not able to connect to server, unable to connect to Westwood online

I may be wrong but only 5 accounts are allowed per serial right?

Just log into any account with a 8 letter/number password. It should register automatically. It wouldn't let you in if you are trying to use someone else's account.

Nope, I had 7 before, started deleting but still doesn't seem to work.

I tried to reinstall it and still, it doesn't work

Hmmm, trying to create an account though

9.

Can we have multiple active accounts at the same time?

What do you mean?

I think he means that if he is aloud (Or all of us) to use as many accounts as possible (Max 9.) using only using one serial, maybe he means if he is aloud to use multiple active accounts at once,

Example: 3 active accounts = 3 active accounts in different servers or in one same server, so basically, he's using 3 accounts or whoever, at one time.

Yeah...I mean if we can use multiple accounts at the same time.

For example, I use "IronBalls" account to play AOW. Then I want to use the "IronPilot" account to play only flying maps where I am Orca/Apache/Transport Heli pilot.

So my question is, should I have to delete the "IronBalls" account so I can create the "IronPilot" account OR am I allowed to create the new account so when I log on, I can choose between the 2 accounts?

You can create them both.

Yes, you can use multiple accounts at the same time; no, you don't have to delete your name.
