3/4 of the people here don't even own their computers legitamately. Most of them spend their time on the street corner sucking cocks to buy their shitty GeForce 5200 series cards and calling their machines the most badass gaming rigs on the face of the planet.

You could try, you know... going to a torrent site?

Don't use torrents.py, though.

Torrents aren't always "warez". Many companies use torrents as a way for potential customers to download. Just a couple companies that use torrents...Adobe, Americas Army.

I think there is an APB torrent as well. However, a large amount of torrent distributed things are "warez"
