Is there a way to quickly switch between 2 sets of custom key settings via scripts or something? I hate going to options>controls>load blabla every time...

No, not that I know of.

keycfg.exe - Edit Keys, save, and restart your game (if it was started whilst editing keys).

You can just as easily change those during the game now that there is a bhs.dll options tab in the options menu (might only be with 3.0 +).

I'm talking about the controls like shoot, walk, etc...you could always switch them in the options menu. It just takes too long to load other settings during a fight that way...
