Two teenage boys have been arrested after an 11-year-old was shot dead on his way home from playing football.

The pair, aged 14 and 18, were held over the murder of Rhys Jones who was shot by a youth on a BMX bicycle at a pub car park in Croxteth, Liverpool.

Lives about 1 mile away from me. The scary thing is i have an 11-year-old cousin that lives around there.

kids with guns jeez what next? the first thing i'd do after taking them into custody would be to investigate how they got their hands on a firearm, question the parents etc. i don't think the truth would be hard to come by.

I'm sure they will.

Still it's very sad. It seems these acts are effecting younger people everyday.

In relation to this story, there was a kid arrested about 10 mins from my house because he was caught converting air pistols into single shot .22 caliber firearms. He ended up shooting himself in the hand and that's how the police were tipped off. They found 4-5 more converted weapons in the house after they searched. They also found an unregistered rifle that belonged to the father. Sad thing is the kid's only 14 or 15.

I was a few feet away from him when that happened ^, Alfreton Road was my street when I lived in Nottingham.

He survived, but there was so much blood it was unbelievable.
