I would like to introduce the next-generation of IP connection programs for cnc Renegade. Renegade Launcher is similar to RenegadeIP and connects to any Renegade (or Renegade mod) server, but has several more features.

1. Renegade Launcher supports multiple user profiles, so you can save user information for several people, or alternatively, for Renegade and any mods you may have (see screenshot).
2. Renegade Launcher saves server IP addresses and ports in individual files, making it easier than ever to share server addresses between friends
3. For those of you who frequently start several other programs with Renegade (mIRC, Teamspeak, etc.), Renegade Launcher can launch up to 100 additional programs with Renegade when you click the launch button. Simply enter each program's name and find the executable on the hard drive, and Renegade Launcher will do the rest. Renegade Launcher saves the program list with each profile so that your programs will automatically be launched once you configure it initially.

The Renegade Launcher can be downloaded at my FileFront account from this link:

<http://files.filefront.com/Renegade+Launcher/;8446878;/fileinfo.html>

Renegade Launcher requires the Microsoft .NET framework 2.0.

Download it Here for computers with x86 architecture (most computers)

Download it Here for 64-bit machines.

Please send any comments or concerns to me through these forums, or email me at slavik262@gmail.com

Thank you.

No, just block DC or password DC

But still, I am not a fan of this kind of stuff because it makes it yet again easier for noobcheaters to direct connect. This one even allows you to make a list of servers etc.

But, at least, it didn't include a default list.

We even have had someone complaining he could not connect to our server when he was using DC We don't trust ppl who apparently do know how to get the server ip and port and stuff by WOL, but still need to use directconnect.

That's why StealthEye made it so that you need a password for direct connect.

We are planning to including it in some other piece of software we will be releasing, as that will need it anyway.

Perhaps we will release it as standalone before that though, but that depends on StealthEye, and he is a bit hard to reach atm.

I apologize that some people abuse direct connect. However, I'm not including a default server list, so it is up to servers to allow their users to direct connect by providing their IP and port.

Even though some abuse it, direct connections can also be very useful.

Please don't accuse me of cheating. That's really stupid. Ask anyone on any forum if I cheat. My "inspiration" was RenConnect, made by Hex. It can be found at <http://www.n00bless.com/downloads/>. I also took a look at RenIP, found at game-maps.net

I wanted to write something in VB and an idea came to me to make a program that did the same thing, but with more advanced features. If you notice, my program doesn't even touch Renegade files. It uses a command that I got from the A Path Beyond forums and RenIP, which is as follows:

"[Path here]" +connect [IP]:[Port] +netplayername [player name] [commands]

Besides,

1. I'm from the US.
2. If you pay any attention to the image you just showed, Mandai wrote his application in C#. Mine is in Visual Basic.NET.
3. If you want anything else from me to prove I'm not Mandai, go ahead. I'll provide anything. I'm perfectly open. If it has to come to it, even the source code if you want it.

Don't make stupid accusations. Say whatever you want, but I'm not this "Mandai". I have no idea what forum you even got that from.

On a lighter note, version 1.0.1 is out. Just a fix for a bug that crashed the program if the user didn't have his Renegade executable path correct. Now they get a nice error message.

It is strange 2 of the same programs one with cheat ability, and one without came out at the same time, I hardly doubt two different people made these 2 programs, theres never anything updated in US forums renegade area, and for something to be updated here and on their forums, it really gives off that it is you.

1. you could have a different name and country listed in UC forums, easy as that
 2. you could have written the code for one in VB and other in C
 3. why would similar programs come out at the same time with similar features? UC forums is rarley updated because the hax out there are "good" enough and dont need updating for noobs who use them.

If you know anything about code, C# is completely different from VB.NET.

Get as hyped up as you want, but I'm not Mandai. I've been a member of this community for quite some time. I also have accounts with cnc Reborn, a Path Beyond, and n00bless.com

Make as many random accusations as you want.

If you want any evidence, feel free to ask. I'm completely open. I have nothing to hide.

In fact, knock yourself out. Here's the source for launching Renegade and the other programs.

Try

    For Each IviApp As ListViewItem In gobjProgList.lstProgs.Items
        Start(IviApp.SubItems(1).Text)
    Next
Catch ex As Exception
    MessageBox.Show("An error occurred while loading the other programs. Please try again.", _
    "Error", MessageBoxButtons.OK, MessageBoxIcon.Error)
Exit Sub
End Try
Try
    Dim strLaunchCommand As String strLaunchCommand = txtRenPath.Text strLaunchCommand += " +connect " strLaunchCommand += txtIP.Text strLaunchCommand += ":" & mstPort.Text strLaunchCommand += " +netplayername" strLaunchCommand += " " & ControlChars.Quote & txtNick.Text _ & ControlChars.Quote
    strLaunchCommand += " " & txtCommands.Text
    Start(strLaunchCommand)
Catch ex As Exception
    MessageBox.Show("An error occurred while launching Renegade. " _
    & "Please make sure that the Renegade executable path is correct", _
"Error launching Renegade", MessageBoxButtons.OK, MessageBoxIcon.Error)
End Try
End Sub

Well thats great because I used to use VB.net and have used C many times before, I'm not that good, But i can tell the difference in language, and you being sooo smart to code this program, your smart enough to recode it into another language I'd say, so then answer my question, why would 2 similar programs come out of the blue at the same time, using similar features, why?

By the way, after just debugging 1.0.1 I found that you can't run System.Diagnostics.Processes.Start on the command line used to launch Renegade. Below is the fixed version.

While I have no clue as to what the argument is about, the assertion that C# is "completely different" from VB.NET is a bit wrong IMHO. While VB.NET and C# clearly differ in syntax and compiler semantics (the C# compiler tends to emit a certain instruction for function calls, and VB.NET injects calls that you wouldn't see on C#), they ultimately both compile to CIL (or MSIL, if that's what you want to call it) and are executed by the CLR.

Cheesesoda, personal insults are the perfect way to proove you're right on everything! Keep on going like that!

Slavik, I'll admit that I shouldn't have written 99,99 % sure, because obviously I can't be. From my experience, there aren't that many coincidences in our small Renegade community but ofcourse it could be one now.

I wouldn't blame you if you told me "I read that topic and thought it'd be good to make a useful one for non-cheating". Or maybe you did just think of the same thing at the exact same time. Unlucky coincidence then.

What bothered/bothers me a bit is the "launch a program at the same time as renegade". It just seems a lot of coincidence.

Bluethen, thanks but as we block direct connect from our servers, I don't think I'll need it for the moment. I suppose he doesn't have that many valid serial and xwis nicknames.

Both of you have valid points. But getting personal won't help here. Goztow, sorry I came at you. But I have honestly never visited that forum in my life. The fact that I came out with my program at the same time as Mandai is pure coincidence. The new version will be released soon. Smaller, better looking interface and possibly some new features.
