Don't think so, try using something like FRAPs to take screenshots.

Yes, you can. If you go into your Renegade\Data\config folder, open up input01.cfg in notepad.

Press Ctrl + F and put "MakeScreenShot_Primary=Sys_Req_Key" in the search box. Change that to "MakeScreenShot_Primary=".

That will disable the ability to take screenshots altogether, so if you want to change it to another button, just try to figure out which button isn't used, and after the "=" put the button convention.

For example, if you wanted to take screenshots using the letter G on your keyboard, you would put "MakeScreenShot_Primary=G_Key".

Also, if you use Prnt Scrn for another button, keep in mind Windows still takes a screenshot and puts it in the clipboard.
