This may be a Renegade forum, but I been going forum to forum posting a warning about a video going around. So if your a Halo Fan, heed my word!

BAD NEWS!

For any Halo fans anticipating Halo 3, take my word for it. It has reached the 4 day mark.

DO NOT! I repeat DO NOT Watch ANY MORE HALO 3 VIDEOS UNDER ANY TITLE FROM THIS POINT ON!

I just was watching G4TV, and there is news that someone who managed to video tape the ending to Halo3, and uploaded it to Youtube.

So, who knows where it could show up next. So if you do not want the ending ruined, take my advice, DON'T WATCH ANY HALO RELATED VIDEOS UNTIL YOU SEE THE ENDING FOR YOURSELF!

You've been warned. Spread the word!

the half assed enemy that most of us saw in the first Halo. I never played Halo 2 so I dont know if they designed more than 3 models in that one but....meh to it all.

Well they have Grunts, Jackels, Eliets, Brutes, Hunters, and those flying bug thingies (I don't know their names... I know that Sarge called them "Buggas" though)

The Grunts are those little midget dudes with the squeaky voices that run around in circles crying in fear of you. The Jackels are those short guys with the energy shields and the plasma pistoles. Elites are the human sized ones with the oversheilds. Brutes are those big fat bear like guys that take forever to kill. Hunters are those big guys with like 4 tones of armor that you need to shoot in the back to kill. "Buggas" are those small dudes that buzz around in large numbers and rape your squad.

The "Buggas" are known as the Flood I think. Man, I hated those annoying pesky shits.

No the flood are their own faction. They are a mix of mutated Humans, Grunts, and Elites.

I thought you were referring to those small swarms of Flood that come at you in huge groups and run into you and pop...not the mutated lifeforms of infected Covenant and Marines.

Okay, the little ones are Infection forms, fat ones are Carriers, other types are combat forms (bow for the creative flood names).
