Uhg, don't start this crap again.

Didn't you ask these same questions before? Also check the same page as always:
http://www.renhelp.net/?mod=Content&action=view&id=Getting+Started

1) Check www.Renhelp.net before any of your questions.

2) Also note that your title is supposed to be a summary and your message body is the details of the problem and again, we went over all of this before...

IE:

Title= Missing Presets
Message Body= Hi I cant read the website people are always sending me links to or follow a simple posting structure. I have the same question that I had answered a month ago and I can't handle using the search function because it requires moderately decent spelling.

Use your path, it may differ than what was posted. Actually read and follow the tutorial and do the steps. Don't copy and paste anything.

I have 5 serials but I wont be making them public.

To get past the installer use any serial that starts with 0669 and then find your serial in one of the ini's in the install directory and replace it with a valid standard renegade serial.

(/|\ As you said, retyping for search function...maybe one day one of you people will use it)

According to google someone said that Xwis lets any 0669 serial run a server now without a valid standard renegade serial but if it errors out then do the latter.
