Anybody know where I can get free dial-up? I currently have NetZero but it only lets you use 10 hours a month. I would also love to hear about other ways of getting free dial-up, if you know what I mean.

If you can't beg your parents for 5.99 a month to buy dial-up... Gee I don't know what to say. There is no free dial-up, unless your parents are enrolled in college or something.

Life Lessons: You don't get anything for free, and the best things in life aren't cheap.

I'm sure he has that much worth in carbonated beverages every month. Hell, I probably have that in 2 week's time, and I don't drink that much.

I always laugh at NetZero... I have this cd in my collection that has

"NetZero: Protecting your right to free internet forever!"
Under that-
"The only ISP that doesn't limit your hours or bandwidth."

I should really bring that up to their offices and demand they honor it Of course about 5 billion other people got the same cd at some point.

Well I get free local calls and I can just call using a 0845 number so it would be free right, even though I don't live in the UK?

Several big canadian cities have things called "freenets". Here in ottawa, free unlimited dialup.
