I have a map file in Renx. When i export, it says: "An error has occurred and the application will now close." I had made a backup file before this problem, and neither will export. It also gave me the option to save a recovery file, i did that and it wont close either. I tried exporting into a new mod folder, i re-named the file...i did everything that came to mind. I exported another file (some model i made) and it works. Any ideas on how to fix this!?!? (I'm really mad because i have worked on this for SOOOOO long) [February 25, 2003, 12:30: Message edited by: maytridy]

How about doing Save Selected As, and Merge into a new file? Or changing which way you exort it? different settings? If all else fails, you could always pray.
