I've used this little program a few times, and it's handy.

http://www.geovid.com/Video_mp3_Extractor/

However, it only supports 'wmv' , and 'avi' files so it's limited that way. But if that's what you are looking to extract from, this baby will be what you're looking for.

Please don't start with putting full letters for each word.

Did you even read? He said it uses .wmv and .avi files. If your video is an avi, then it should work.

LOL

Your baseball cap does a great job of hiding the lobotomy scars.
