I'm lazy, I really suck at modeling so I'm not going to do it myself. I was putting together a red tib skin pack but a couple of the models I had made were glitchy and didn't work. I was hoping for some helpful answers but all I got was spam...
The spam on these forums is out of hand and most people only care about getting their post count up, tbh spamming is just as annoying as hacking...
To all those modders out there who have to put up with this good luck, I hope someday you will get the admins to ban these pricks.

You give up easily. Just because you don't succeed at first doesn't mean you should stop attempting all together. Just keep at it, and read through the tutorials on RenHelp.

I don't think it's models, it's textures.

So you should start by getting the XCC Mixer, look up the texture. Change all the green color to red.

Hint of program:

Corel Paint Shop Pro Photo X2.
(If you get this, just use "Change to Target" tool.)
