Basically saying:

1. Use a font you have closest to that, it's a basic style, I'm sure you can come close.
 2. You fail at Google searching.
 3. It's a little annoying that it seems like you can never do anything for yourself, so you always have to make a thread asking us. Furthermore, it seems most of your problems are design related, so why not find a nice design forum to join, I'm sure they'd have more answers than us here at Renforums.

You can find sites where they don't charge. It's a little harder, but I've never failed to be able to find whatever font I searched for.

Apparently, SSnipe, you're as thick as a fucking brick when it comes to using search engines. Since you are, I figured I'd be helpful and link you to a site that will help you learn to use search engines correctly.

We are helping him, you fucking nitwit. Carrier just chose not to be incredibly nice about it. Seriously, if he can't ever find things on search engines, he needs to learn how to use them better.

If you can't find a "FREE DOWNLOAD" it's because you don't know HOW to use the search engine, or you're way too fucking lazy to keep going through search results. Again, I have NEVER failed to find the font I'm looking for for free. You just have to look deeper into the search results, or you need to learn how to use the search engine.

If using common sense is acting "tuff", then you're going to be cockslapped by life.

Technically posting those fonts is illegal, since they are commercial fonts and you are supposed to pay for them.

That is true. However, I feel that if the font is standard on certain Operating Systems, it wouldn't be ethically (legally is a different situation) reprehensible.
