Why don't you just load the map all over again???

Or start it and then hit restart?

Rename scripts.dll to _scripts.dll, and scripts2.dll to scripts.dll and also add _ to the front of the names for d3d8.dll, bhs.dll and shaders.dll. This will allow you to play the single player missions and easily restore the custom scripts again after your done.

I did a fresh re-install of Renegade last night with no modifications what so ever.

Hence, asking for a game save, and that mission is too fucking long to start over again. :@

No the annoying part is when you do not save hotwire first and you continue on to your mission and right before you make the turn to go to the cathrral no matter what you do hotwire dies. You have to backtrack all the way to the beginning save her and walk all the way back.
