

---

Subject: Logging in problem

Posted by NOD-Officer on Sun, 20 Jan 2008 19:22:48 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

This noon i played Renegade online for first time, with my acc. I confirmed the "remember my account" settings. (or something in that direction.) I could play for whole noon without any break. Then i left Renegade on the main screen, for the time i was eating dinner. When i came back and try to get back to the game it shows no servers, i thought because i had Renegade do nothing that whole time.. so i rebooted it.. twice.. no change.. I discovered that i have a wrong password apearently.. But how do i change it? The password is invalid is what i get when i try to log in. It gives a window saying Wrong password, blah blah, then it goes to the empty servers again. Where do i use a new account or enter a different password for this acc? How do i like disagree to remember this account, so i have to log in again. What triggers the effect that i am required to log in again???

---

---

Subject: Re: Logging in problem

Posted by cmatt42 on Sun, 20 Jan 2008 19:27:07 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Select it, press delete account (don't worry, it just deletes it from the list), and reenter in the information. If that doesn't work, that nick was probably someone else's and you just happened to get in with it. It wouldn't be the first time, either.

---