Hi. I am hunting for one thing. The Generals Alpha build 98, firstly. i can't find this thing _anywhere_. I have searched high and low, but I can't find it. Does it still exist, or no?

Thanks in advance!

Alpha builds are internal builds to the development team only, so unless there's a leaker in EA, there's a rare chance of you getting it.

Anyway, I don't think C&C Generals was even in production in 1998...

I don't think the 98 stands for the year... or there'd be build 45, in which you think EA has been making Generals since 1945 (an impossibility, obviously).

I remember finding it somewhere. I'll take a look in my favourites when I get home.

Why would you (not directly to npol) want the 98th build anyway?

I mean, they probably done 100 builds, and gave you the game.

Usually large software undergoes thousands of builds before it hits publishing. The earliest builds are bound to be extremely faulty.

98 is the only build that was released to the public AFAIK.

It used to be hosted on www.cncreneclips.com apparently. (It may have been re-upped there).
Also try www.cncden.com

Here is the original thread about it.
Reference of it here too.

Yep. The models and the skins. Asking in the Generals communities has been..pointless it seems, too. I've gotten no replies, which is weird. Also checked the Reneclips downloads, they're dead.

Generals community is close to dying...the game is not being patched anymore by EA, and so many cheaters rampant in game. I doubt you will get it. Unless you ask EA, who will never give out resources.
