Using the commands.xml file
####################################

The commands.xml file in BRenBot 1.52 gives you total control over who can use which commands, and even lets you disable commands completely. The top part of the file dealing with permissions is beyond the scope of this document, and will not be dealt with here.

Let's look at an example command in the commands.xml file;

```
<command name="shown00bs">
  <permission level="1"/>
  <syntax value="!shown00bs"/>
  <help value="Displays all n00bs"/>
  <enabled value="1"/>
  <group>irc_admin</group>
  <group>irc_public</group>
  <group>ingame</group>
  <renguard required="1"/>  < Set to 0 so rg is not required
  <alias>shownoobs</alias> <alias>n00bs</alias>
</command>

The renguard required setting has 3 possible values. If it is set to 1 only players with RenGuard runnning can use the command. Setting it to 2 is the same as setting it to 1, but does not allow moderators to bypass the RenGuard requirement. Setting it to 0 or removing the line allows non RenGuard users to also use the command.

As for authorizing with RG click on options when it lets you look for Server Authentication and enter you pass there.
