Get some guy to plant about 10 charges of remote c4 on you. Then get someone in a really fast vehicle to dump you near a facility. Run in side and yell! KABOOM! Then the technician detonates it while you are near the master terminal and you blow up the building. Waiting for strikes takes too long...it's harder to disarm remote c4 on a moving target.

I did that with a guy once, except with a humvee instead of a person. I put about 6 Remote C4s on it and when he got right next to the OOL he'd say something and I'd detonate it safe at base. Unfortunately, they got blown up the first time, and the second time they were gone for a long time so i just blew it and sent them into a spinning inferno

I think he's saying that the c4 appears to be gone, but it's still there.
