So many years ago... I remember something in Renegade that allowed you to view units as they spin around, anyone remember this, was it a mod..

Hmm, thinking about it... was it something in the missions that you could look up.. am sure it was in the options menu. :s

You can see some models and spin them around when you are installing renegade

The new scripts have a new console command "view" that shwos you a W3D model that you want to view.

Type "view blah.w3d" in the console and it should display the model which you can spin around and stuff.

Ah awesome, this will really help me take clear screenshots of models with new textures for Game-Maps.NET

You wouldn't have a list of model names please?

Going through some in LE, but nothing turns up. :s

All the W3d names are in always.dat!
I've known of this for a long time. Never knew it was unknown by the community

I know that, but looking in there is the last resort since it's a right pain to open, look through them and find the correct file.

I had a look about 5 minutes ago, the files I tired, didn't work, so not sure if they are the wrong files, I believe they are the right ones, since they start with c_ag_blah_blah.w3d

Hmm. :s

Hmm. :s

My bad, you have to type in the name of the W3d without .w3d.

wont work for me...

sp i type view c_chicken
and nothing happen i tryed with the .w3d
i try c_ag_nod_sniper with and without the w3d and still nothing edit: can this be done ingame or like on a fds or what?
