Do you mean Summer break starts or school ends?

I got another week and I'm out of school.. forever. (College doesn't count)

My last day is Thursday next week. If I manage a solid A in trig (I have a 92.11%, I need at least a 92.50% ), I have 3 classes without a final; otherwise, still 2 classes without one =D.

I failed all my summer job applications. This is so depressing .

Not for me. Here at Georgian College in Barrie, computer programmer analyst 3 year program has two semesters in the last year, one in winter and one in summer.

Don't even bother asking why.

Been out of "school" since May 7th. I had my first job the summer after my freshman year of high school. Saved up a bunch of money since, and am now on the verge of purchasing my own car.

6th grade is nothing. Middle school in general is almost nothing. High school only counts for college. College is where it's at, where you put it all down for what matters: life.
