A mine blowing up will detonate other mines, correct? Just wondering, 'cause I haven't really stuck around to watch them blow up.

Yes they do, if they are all belong to one side. It's best to spread them out a bit, so your mine field, he, he will last a bit longer.-----"Inferior tactics detected"

Play as an engineer/technician and use your repair gun on it. OR Get a high level character, run over the C4 to detonate it and find a eng/tech to heal you.

Are you guys sure about this? I've never seen an entire minefield explode from one guy, so I think either the mines don't detonate each other... or the chain reaction radius is just very small. Anyone know for sure? Thanks

I gotta agree with just_ignore_me on this. I've tried to set off enemy mine fields with base untis to clear them for my team but only the ones I am really close to go off. Not the whole set.
