I already asked it a long while ago here:
Do i need to ask EA-Games to make my mod Tiberium Redux standalone??

On the ModDB someone said i had to ask them but here they said i didn't have to ask.

Fz007 wrote on Tiberium Redux ModDB Page
you have to get a permission of EA to make it standalone

So what is it now
Do i need to ask or not ??

You need to ask EA's permission to make the mod standalone. That is, a mod that can run by itself without a Renegade installation needed.

The mod is already being made, why are you trying to copy me?

Edit: I have sent apoc an email already to get a permission.
Quote:Hey APOC,

My name is Ferkhat Shubladze and i want to make a mod that converts C&C 3 Kanes Wrath into C&C Renegade, named: Command and Conquer Tiberian Wrath.

I started the mod this may, and i have some stuff already done. I want your permission to make the mod stand alone.

You might want to see the updates and pictures here www.tiberianwrath.st.gs . We have a little team, but we are growing every day. The next update will be soon, so, i wanted to ask your for permission, and tell me what you thing about the mod, thanks!

Note: We dont have the Moddb page and we are making new forums, i will tell you when the new website is gonna be up.

And the next update of my mod is gonna be up in 1-2 weeks,

I can't imagine many people who do actually run Renegade mods without having renegade installed on their computer though.. It is only really usefull if you are aiming fr an alternate universe/game (genre)
