Okay Pawky, let me explain to you something. You've been here since June. June of this year. You have more posts than many of the members here, but still one of the more retarded. You don't exactly have the authority to talk about whats old news and what isn't.

that giant face is my background wtf

i was pissed because i tried to make the name Izual once and it turns out this tard took it i heard he's been cheating since non00bs and probably before that, all the guys from there remember him you know the saying, you can't teach an old cheater to not be a flaming douchebag bastard or something like that

Well, it was quite obvious when he posted his screenshots of all his cheater skins/models that he'd end up with some heavier stuff sooner or later. Though I didn't think he'd actually make it as easy as using damage hacks. You'd think he'd know that BIATCH would only take half a second to ban him.

EKT disappoints me with who it lets into the clan sometimes, but it's not my clan, so I just live with it.

he was not originally banned from EKT server for cheating. He was banned for racism. But since he is a VERY nice guy (he is), he was allowed back in the server after he promised not to do it again. Then he even was accepted into EKT. I duuno what happned after that...probaly Cabalol knows more.

If I recall, he was banned for having a dickton of advantage skins and other various things, and pretty much refused to remove them. AFAIK, he's still banned... I dunno, I don't always follow EKT's dramas, but yeah.

Sure, that shows you use the objects file to modify models which aren't cheats, but it doesn't show that when you do repair the hummvee it is repairing at normal speed.

I don't know how the bot works for catching cheats, but i guess that it detects when damage is increased and stuff like that, and it flagged you as a cheater....

- Or, he ban evaded, by changing IP's (does the bot on that server bans nicknames, or IP's, or both?).

- Or, someone stole his name.....

No.. I can tell you exactly what happened.

He joined as scrin and did double the repair damage that a advanced repair gun does.. He got caught with RR and kicked. He then rejoined as that other nick and got caught doing positive 10 damage with a repair gun. These were two different instances.

Whether you was testing something or not, you still loaded a modified objects.dbb and used it on a public server without permission from the admin (me) and therefore cheated.

Perhaps it was a problem with leveledit, while you dont notice when you scroll down you will change all options. I changed the obelisk beam once to blue, but i didnt see the beam anymore in-game. it seemed i accidently lowered the velocity while scrolling down, so the beam became invincible.

So next time check carefully if all settings remained the same.
