Reborn doesn't come with the WOL components, so you manually got rid of it. It's your fault.

As for still playing Reborn, yes. It's my job as a tester.

I did think it was absurd for it to do something to WOL TBH but something did, and i had to delete and reinstall to get it working....

edit: in my first post i never actually stated reborn caused my WoL to mess up, you just naturally assumed it's what i was implying.

All i was saying is, after playing reborn, for one reason or another WoL messed up (wouldn't let me login) so i had to reinstall it...again, i never linked this to reborn.

What a nice way to get rid of potential player base.

You can't play something that will never be finished.

(yes I know there was a released version a long time ago)

How long ago did this problem with Reborn happen? Within the past year? (Any time after February, to be specific)

You play renegade, that's not finished. Besides, CNC_Reborn will be finished.

The current player base has dropped to practically non-existent. This doesn't cause me too much concern however, as the new release is being beta tested and based on the testers feedback we're preparing fixes for there findings. When this version is released I hope to gain a larger player base then the previous release and retain them as much as possible.

Hardly surprising considering the lack of vehicles and the major balance issues. Hopefully the next version will fix, or vastly improve on, both of those points.
