We all know the world will end in 2012 its a fact we all know this. So what are we doing to prepare for it?? I mean besides getting ourselves right with God.

Since we know when the world ends this gives us an advantage. You know money makes the world go round, but no will need it come 2012 right? So I think we need to go take some from someplace and go party til we see the world blows up.

So I'm looking for recruits. Who wants to be the driver, the person who cuts the electrical, the money handler, the planner and so on. I was thinking we'd all get an island and party, play ren and watch the world burn.

world ends in june 06 world end sin march 08, blah blah blah blah...

whats the point in all the theories, if you are right you will not get recognition so why won't everybody shut up about it and just get on with living life.

The Mayan civilization calender ends.
What it means? We shall see.

The only thing that gets me is that if they had enough of a grasp of maths to make a calendar - why make one that runs out?

I swear I heard one for the year 2008 where the whole world was supposed to end...

It is kinda interesting that NASA is predicting extra "activity" in space in the year 2012.

There's one of these every year. Y2K, 06/06/06, 2012, to me it's all the same junk. I can't wait until 2013 to hear the next theory.
