There is a key at the back of the ship in a bridge like place, but I can't remember the color.

To get the red key, you had to somehow past the yellow doors. That means you either already have the key or the doors were blocked in open position by a dead body. If the latter is the case, congratulations: you've just encountered a bug that will not allow you to finish this mission. Please restart .

Read my post somewhere in this forum. It has the detail on how to get past this mission.
