I' getting attacked by something idk what it is.

It is hard to explain

COMODO FireWall has blocked over 4,000 attempts to accesses my computer and it is not stopping it is going and going not even a second before the next attempt happens.

IDK what to do it just started happening when my friend connected to me through Team viewer i shut down my firewall and boom he disconnects i know it is not him cus we go way back and he was trying to help me stop it but it wont stop.....

It started before he connected to me and now it wont stop I am in the middle of install mcafee.

Has anyone had this problem before?

please hurry idk if it will get passed my firewall or not.

When i open firefox or IE it says that ip 192.168.2.3 is out that is non of my ips in this house and every time that pops up there is a diff ip beside it??????????

Get AVG Free: <http://free.avg.com/download?prd=afe>

It should clean you up nicely.

I have slowed it down a bit by trying to change ip.

I have mcafee AVG wont install to my computer say's there is a error when installing i have left no trace of AVG and it still wont install.

Do you have an unprotected wireless network?

no idk how to.

I think i have stopped the attack i will see if my ip changed but my firewall is not showing any attempts now,

If you ever have this problem change your ip the problem goes away.

Pull out your internet cable for 3 seconds, then put back in and look if you still get attacked
