You mean you were clicking for each shot the whole time?

Actually...it's semi-automatic.

It's easier to click each shot rather than hold it down.

.. And didn't you ever see on the bottom of the screen "automatic pistol?"

RoShamBo wrote on Wed, 10 December 2008 17:14Actually...it's semi-automatic. In real life it would be semi-automatic but in Renegade it should be considered automatic, as simply holding down the mouse fires it continuously. In fact almost all weapons in Renegade are automatic by this logic.

I click for each shot I know it works just holding the mouse button down, but I still click for each shot, makes it feel like it's firing faster (it's probably not, just one of those psychological things, but meh ) and you can delay a shot easily if you lose your target for a split second.
