I know that renforums isn't exactly always an example of maturity but I'd like to ask everyone's cooperation to help keeping this place enjoyable for as many people as possible.

Renforums is a place where people from different countries, different cultures and different convictions meet around the wonderful game that Renegade is.

The only way to keep this place enjoyable for all these different people is if everyone respects the other's convictions and opinions.

English isn't the first language for a lot of people. Please respect the efforts these people do to communicate in a language that isn't theirs.

There are members who believe and members who do not believe. Different religions are represented by a multitude of members. I'm all for argued discussions about religion or politics but they can only work out if you respect other's opinions.

Last but not least: the spam forum is not a place where "everything is possible". Spamming does not equal acting like a 5 years old. Please keep in mind that all rules that count in the other subforums also count in the spam subforum, except for "no spam" of course.

Tbh I am entitled to my own opinion on whatever the subject maybe and if you don't agree with my opinion then that is your problem. You can't get upset or annoyed with people who bash on god because they choose not to believe in it.

While i agree with Caveman that he is entitled to his opinion, I do not believe this gives him the right to bash / disrespect other people's opinions. But who am I...

Thats not what im saying. Gozy, I wouldn't be bashing on other peoples opinion i would be bashing on the subject. For exmaple

You might believe in god and heaven etc.. and I dont believe in it at all. Now you can say god is awesome and he loves everyone and all that nonsense. Now im not gonna call you an idiot for believing in it because thats your opinion. But you or anyone else cant get upset if I say well gods fake and its just a bunch of nonsense.

I get what your saying to, I dont know if saying good exist and god is good somehow offends the ones who dont believe it if it does I never once say anything about god, even tho i believe I keep my mouth shut about it, you know.

Right but I was just using that as an example since you mentioned about people bashing on god. I have my own beliefs in everything and you cannot get annoyed/upset because my opinion which I am entitled to is different from yours.

By saying no actually this is how <insert whatever here> is/works/should be... doesn't mean I am being disrespectful to others it just means that I dont agree with you. People need to learn not to take offence because someone else has a different opinion about something.

If someone says God doesn't exist and its all a tale etc... You should say while I respect your opinion I do not agree with it, that way noone gets offended and we all get on with whatever else we're doing.

I respect if someone does not believe in god, but other saying shit talk and saying shit like "you believe him? LOL" or using him as some kinda insult of joke i mean if you dont believe in him then why use him as a insult or joke? I dont care if you dont believe god, but does not mean you have to sit there for 5 fucking pages talking shit and making joke snot only about god or jesus but religion period which iv seen alot of here

"I do not think God exists..." <-- Acceptable. Probably a heated debates topic.

"ALL CHRISTIANS ARE IDIOTS FOR THINKING GOD EXISTS BASH BASH INSULT etc" <-- unacceptable. Discuss the topic. No ad hominem.

Sounds about right

First thing is someones opinion, I dont care if they say it its what they think the second is insult and just bashing just cause someone else believe this or that which should not be allowed or at least I dont wanna fucking see it
