As we all know life isn't simple but if someone could help me again. I've installed rengaard core patch 2 etc, except whenever I go online and click advanced games listings, a box appears saying a new version of Renegade is available. Now I've downloaded this about 4 times, each one taking different times, then it says restart but yet again it says it again when I click advanced game listings next.

Any one have any ideas what is going wrong???? please help I haven't played this game for about 4 years and NEED to play it again and now I've installed scripts 3 and I've got the black screen. I've tried downloading all the latest Direct X software from download.com, but I still have the black screen, could it be to do with Vista or is there a Direct X for Vista only???, soz 2 be a pain in the ass but I really want to play Renegade

if anyone can answer my two questions above that would be very helpful. However I'm hoping by installing scripts 3 manually I've answered my own 1st question but thanks to the black screen I can't even find out!!!!!!!!!!

When is your black screen happening? Can you see the menu?

If you can't, reinstall scripts 3.4.4 with the installer. It handles any problems with DirectX you may have and generally gets you produces a working install of Renegade

i did instal via goztows post however his links to direct 9x dont work , so ive downloaded everything that came up in download.com to do with direct x when i searched direct x9 and still have black screen.

:EDIT NOTE:: ive reinstalled the scripts and now it work , . but my original problem still now persists. when i click advanced game list it keeps saying a new version of renegade is available, when i download it restarts and then says the same thing again any ideas?::EDIT NOTE:

Use the manual patch linked in the guide. You're supposed to patch then install scripts.
