i've stolen so many tanks using the stealth black hand (stole 3 mammoth tanks in one game on islands once). i love placing c4 on an unsuspecting sniper then saying "someone has 30 seconds to live." they're also very good for sneak attack from behind on an enemy blockade at your base enterance. take out the engie/hotwires and the vehicles are toast in seconds.

1)stick c4 on a medium/mammy2)wait 30 secs3) if they get out, steal their tank, else try to shoot them(not w mammys, mediums only)

I had used them before-back when I was a n00b and could use it properly. But the other day, I used it and realised its amazing power! Even if you get spotted you have enough health to run back. You can just wander around, find a lonely little GDI and shoot him in the head and disappear before his friends can come and kill you. I found that this was very succesful. It was on the map-I need to learn these names- where each base entrance leads out into a feild with a waterfall, some houses, 2 pill boxes and tiberium and there is a network of tunnels. I run out into the feild bit, up to the waterfall-take 1 GDI out-into the tunnels-sneak up on a second-run behind the people rushing into my base and kill all of them as they weren't expecting fire from behind them. Wow, just a couple of minutes and so many kills! I then made it my duty to hunt dow those * snipers in those pill boxes. A great untit-the stealth.
