Hello, I cannot log into Renegade. My in-game name is FL4M1NGCH.

I have been trying for a few weeks to log onto Renegade for a few weeks. I log in, then click on the server I want to go onto (I am a regular on n00bless, but I have tried with no avail logging onto other servers). After that, it loads the normal screen:

After about a minute or two, I get this message on the screen, and then log out:

I posted my problem on the n00bless forum, and they told me to download RenConnect. I did, but it still did not work:

(notice the "connection to server interrupted" message at the top of the screen.

I don't think anything is wrong with my router, as I have been playing Ren since May on the same router. HELP PLEASE!

Do you have peerguardian2? It may block connection to the server.

I'm not sure what that is...

I run Windows Vista, and my game has run fine since May, but now it just doesn't run... could Vista be the problem?

If the problems started when you installed Vista, then that would explain.

I didn't install Vista, it came with my computer. Renegade ran fine for at least six months with Vista running...

Well, it certainly looks like something is blocking your connection with the servers. First thought would be a firewall, maybe even Windows firewall, though that wouldn't really make much sense as it worked before. I don't really have a clue here...

OK, I'll check my firewalls. Thanks

I can't believe it was that easy...

All I had to do was turn off my firewall, I feel sooooo stupid. Thx for the help, Goztow Hehe, NP. However, you'd be better off configuring it than turning it off, I suppose?

It's pretty strange, my firewall says it's not blocking Renegade, yet Ren doesn't start if the firewall is on. I suppose that's why I didn't try disabling it sooner...

I guess we can close the thread now, as my issue is solved.

thx again, Goztow
