This is for those of you who have used my Teamspeak server for you clan in the past and haven't been able to connect. You weren't banned and the server is still up. I upgraded to the new RC2 version. That's incompatible with the old RC1 and all the old user accounts were not copied over.

So if you still want access (CHOSEN, s4l, etc) just get the new RC2 client from teamspeak.org and login unregistered and I'll get you set back up. Sorry I didn't announce it here earlier, but I rarely visit these forums.

Also, I run the Recent Matches and TS scripts as seen on <http://www.nocturnal-soldiers.com/> & <http://paw.webhop.net>. Feel free to ask me if you have a clan site and would like to use either of these.

I like the script the one at <http://www.nocturnal-soldiers.com/> is a bit better. Maybe it is nicer too see who is in which channel from the server tho.

If we will keep using TS i want to use that script for our website =)

Yeah, PAW is using the RSS feed version which is kind of crusty because it really shouldn't be done that way. Wookets just hasn't/won't switch to the HTML style that **NS** is using.

And, I do have another version which displays the channels as they appear in the TS client,

<http://phase66.kicks-ass.net/cgi-bin/ts.old.pl>

It needs some work (getting the channel names in order, gif scaling, bunny removal). I'll get it together if somebody actually wants to use it.

The bunny is the best part. I miss the bunny from your avatar. Before you just seemed layed back and relaxed, now with your avatar you always seem angry.

I like that other version that shows the sub channels. I don't know how you made it but our website uses PHP. Is it hard to add it to that?

When you have done a good version you should post it on the TS forums then more people will use it.
