ENGLISH MOTHERFUCKER! DO YOU SPEAK IT?!

Recently, I've noticed a lot of new members around here with incredibly poor spelling and grammar in their posts. Not only does this make it difficult to understand what you are trying to talk about, it also makes you look like a lobotomy patient.
Please, for the sake of everyone on here, make sure your posts are legible.

"New"

Really... it's been like the everywhere on the internet. Nothing new. But yea, I agree. I don't care if you forget some punctuation or upper-cased letters, but it's just sad when it involves taking an effort for other people to read your posts.

I agree, posts have been getting worse and worse. I don't mind QUITE as much if it's someone from another country that would generally have a difficult time translating, but I see a lot of terrible spelling and grammar from American and English people alike.

This is in the rules.

(Along with the line about moderators enforcing them... I might close this)
